Our presenter is Jamie Maness, Clinical Trial Educator, BSN, RN

Jamie Maness currently works as a Clinical Trial Educator with IQVIA. She has worked as an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) and a Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN) and earned her Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) Degree from the University of North Carolina in Greensboro in 2018. She started as an RN at Duke University Hospital. After being introduced to research, Jamie worked as a research nurse in Duke's Early Phase Research Unit (DEPRU). This led to a clinical research nurse coordinator role within Duke School of Medicine's Wake County pan-disease oncology research team. Jamie began working as a Clinical Trial Educator with IQVIA in 2022, which allows her to educate the community, educate clinics and their staff, along with assisting in recruitment efforts for research studies. She currently works on the Sunovion portfolio, including adult and pediatric schizophrenic studies (DIAMOND 1/DIAMOND 2) and an adult bipolar one depression study.
